It gives me immense pleasure to invite you to the 6th iLDLT meeting in Jaipur, India. The iLDLT was created for promoting development and research in the field of LDLT through collaboration and knowledge sharing. This year's meeting will focus on minimally invasive donor surgeries, how to improving perioperative outcomes for LDLT in sick recipients and how to make LDLT more universally available in keeping with the theme, "Liver Transplant Beyond Borders".

The annual Liver Transplant Society Meeting will also be held as a joint meeting with this year's iLDLT meeting and will focus on improving and promoting cadaveric donations including donation after circulatory determination of death. As the annual CLBS meeting is held around the same time every year,

The Pink City of Jaipur has lovely weather during this time of the year and I will not be surprised if you accidentally ended up in a big, fat, lavish Indian weddings as this city is a hot destination for this event. Within and around Jaipur, there are many historical monuments and palaces which are a must see. You will be transported to another era of charm, leisure and elegance.

Whether you are an anaesthetist, hepatologist, intensivist, transplant surgeon, radiologist or pathologist, the 3 day event will have something of major attraction for you. Many of the leading lights of transplantation will be attending this meeting and it would be a starting point for collaborative work with established Institutions.

During the evenings after the scientific deliberations are over, there will be a Gala dinner and cultural performances by some of the best troupes in India.

Once again, I invite you to this meeting and please do register in time so that we can make your stay comfortable and enjoyable.
